Summary: Harry Potter is neglected by his parents and those of the wizarding world when Dumbledore declared his brother James the Boy Who Lived. But his brother sticks by him through thick and thin. Look out Dumbledore this is one sibling bond you won't be able to break. James and Lily bashing, Dumbledore bashing, Weasley bashing, strong brotherly bond

1. Chapter 1

Hey everyone I always enjoyed Harry Potter fanfics where his brother or sister is mistaken as the boy or girl who lived. This is my first try at it.

Disclaimer: I don't own Harry Potter or any of the characters they belong to J.K Rowling.

Voldemort crept towards the house in Godrics Hollow where the Potter family was hiding. With a wave of his wand the front gate slide open with a slight creaking sound. Tonight was the very night that he would finally destroy the very one that was destined to be his downfall. Thats right it was one of the Potters' sons that was going to kill him in the future, but he didn't let that get to him as this would be over in a couple of minutes. As the dark lord came towards the manor he could see in the window James Potter resting on the couch while his two sons were playing on the ground. Then a woman with long red hair and green eyes came into the living room. It was none other than Lily Potter nee Evans.

'filthy mudblood' Voldemort thought as he saw how the woman showed puffs of smoke to the two giggling boys. Waiting long enough he gripped his wand and said the spell as the door was blown off of the hinges. A evil smirk came upon his face. James and Lily were a thorn in his side ever since he once tried to get them to join him but three times they defied him. But letting them feel the pain of losing their children before he killed them off would make it all the sweeter.

"Alohamora" he said quietly.

The door unlocked itself as the dark lord swept into the manor and made his way into the room that his faithful servant Peter Pettigrew had told him of. He began to seek out the children's room so he would kill the one from the prophecy that he was told by his slippery friend Severus Snape.

"Lily its him! take the boys and run" James screamed frantically as he came face to face with the dark lord. He felt the wards trigger but it was already to late. The Potter Lord reached for his wand but he was struck with a stunner before he could even utter a spell. Normally Voldemort would just kill him, but James was a powerful opponent but he promised Severus that he would spare Lily and it would raise to much suspicion if the Potters were dead.

The Purebloods began to believe he was favoring Muggleborns. Truth was he didn't hate Muggleborns at all no he was married to one, his beloved Annabelle Guenivere Riddle nee Daniels while most of his followers believe that his wife was really a pureblood due to her being a heir from the Slytherin female line like he was. But the truth was she was descended from a squib line. Some of his elite believe in Pureblood supremacy but most of his followers don't belive in it, Bellatrix Lestrange, her husband, and her sister Narcissa were some examples. They don't hate Muggleborns they just believe that they should stay in the magical world to lower the risk of magic hating muggles from discovering their world.

"James should have been able to put up a fight" he said as he looked down at the unconsicious Lord.

He sighed before continuing towards the stairs silently, he could sense the room that Lily and her sons were hiding. As he opened the locked door with a flick of his wand, he stepped inside and spotted Lily standing in front of the cribs. The two cribs that Lily was guarding inhabited two small boys. One was Harry James Potter who looked like his father thanks to the unruly jet black hair which all Potters had along with his mothers emerald green eyes. The other was James Charles Potter Jr, who had red hair like his mother but wasn't messy like James' hair was and he also inherited Lily's eye color. They looked like little angels as they were watching the confrontation between their mother and the dark lord.

'so one of them is destined to kill me' Voldemort thought to himself. Wormtail had informed him the first born Harry Potter, the heir to the Potter fortune was the first to show signs of magic, while James Jr was the same way he was still magically weaker than his brother. Dumbledore believed Harry was his equal but he would kill them both to ensure his survival.

"Please not my babies please" Lily begged. "take me instead."

"Step aside foolish girl step aside now" he commanded as he saw her shake her head in denial.

"No! not them please! kill me" she begged as she cried for him to show mercy to her sons.

"Move now and I will spare you" he hissed but when she refused once again he sighed in frustration. He didn't have time for this as he threw a stunner at her as she slumped to the floor. He carelessly stepped over her form and looked towards the cribs where the two boys were. He would give them a painless death after all magical children were a gift from Lady Magic. He didn't take any pleasure in what he was about to do.

He looked towards Harry with a sympathetic look on his face as he raised his wand at the young boy. "forgive me little Harry I didn't want to do this, but you are destined to kill me and I can't let that happen I hope you can forgive me...Avada Kedavra" As the spell left his wand, the green light rushed towards the young boy. As it struck Harry the dark lord had a very sad look on his face, he couldn't believe that he had to kill a baby to ensure his immortality. However in a split second, his eyes widened as the spell engulfed the child. Harry giggled as he held it like a ball and threw it back at him. The impact of the killing curse hit the dark lord head on as he crumpled to the ground. His soul was then wrenched from his body as the last thing he saw was a lightning bolt on Harry's forehead.

Dumbledore came to the ruins of the Potter manor when his ward went off alerting him that Voldemort had discovered James and Lily's location. He rushed inside as he saw the still form of his best student, he stumbled over to James as he cast an Enervate. James stirred as he opened his eyes, he felt like he was kicked by a hippagriff.

"James! James!" Albus called as James groaned.

"Dumbledore?" he said in a hoarse whisper.

"thank Merlin" Sirius yelled as he arrived three minutes after Dumbledore. "I thought you were dead" At that moment, James leapt up and dashed upstairs with Albus and Sirius behind him. He rushed to the ruined nursery and took in the scene with ragged breathing. The scene was unbearable, Lily's still form, the pile of rubble, the crumbled ceiling and the trail of blood running down James Jr's face as he cried while Harry was soundly fast asleep.

"Lily!" he screamed. "Albus is she?" He whimpered as he couldn't bear to finish the sentence.

"She's alive my dear boy" Albus responded as James sagged to the ground in relief. He walked over and helped his wife to her feet, before rushing over to pick up his crying son.

"What do you think happened?" Lily asked as she came to conciousness.

"May I see James Jr please?" Albus asked as Lily handed over her youngest to him. Dumbledore's brow furrowed as he saw the scar on James Jr's face. It looked normal but it had the scent of death in it. Then it clicked in his mind that he realized that the aura and the maginitude of the unfolding events before him left him completely speechless. "Lily, my dear girl may I present the Boy Who Lived James Charles Potter Jr."

"how can that be Albus?" Sirius asked.

"There is dark magic surrounding his scar but Harry shows no sign of it surrounding him. Thus leading me to believe that Harry was knocked out by the backlash while the magic of the killing curse surrounded James." Albus explained.

"so it is him, he's the one" Lily cried as Dumbledore nodded.

"you must understand that you must train him. Voldemort is not truely gone and when he returns he will be his prime target." stated Dumbledore as Lily shuddered.

James and Lily rejoiced as they were cuddling and kissing James Jr the savior of the wizarding world while Harry lay forgotten in his crib.

-Five years Later-

Harry and his brother James Jr were inseperable and they had quite the brotherly bond that rivalled a twin bond. James Jr was the only one in the family that didn't ignore Harry. Whenever his brother was forgotten by James, Lily, Sirius, or Remus he was always there to remind them to add Harry in their family outings, during dinner, mostly all the time. He loved his brother Harry more than anything in the world. He wouldn't go anywhere without him, they did everything together, played Quidditch, studying together in the Potter library, and they always shared everything, from toys to clothes to books. They had the perfect brother relationship and that was worrying James and Lily. They believed Harry was keeping his brother from his training and destiny to save the world from the dark lord. They couldnt have Harry distracting him from his duty to the wizarding world.

James was in the kitchen with his wife who was cooking her famous chocolate chip pancakes for her family. The sweet smell of pancakes filled the kitchen as he walked over to his wife and hugged her from behind.

"I knew I smelled your famous pancakes" he giggled as he kissed her cheek.

"of course but you know the rule you can't taste them before everyone starts eating" she teased as her husband groaned. She giggled as she knew that James was always such a child. Speaking of children her mind went back to James Jr.

"James darling I am worried about our son he isn't doing much in his studies and he spends to much time with Harry" she said in a irritating voice.

"I know what you mean that brat is keeping our savior from his duties, doesn't he know how important his brother is to our world. He's going to kill the dark lord one day" he said with a sneer as he thought of Harry. They gave him everything he could ever want and he repays them by distracting James Jr, their savior.

Lily agreed with James, like him she believed that Harry was just a distraction, dead weight to their perfect family. She also believed that Harry bewitched her darling little savior and she wasn't going to let that happen. "James lets call Albus he'll know what to do"

And just like that Dumbledore was called to Potter Manor. When he arrived he was greeted by his favorite students. Lily welcomed him into the kitchen as she offered him tea which he happily accepted it. As the three sat in the kitchen Lily was the first to break the ice.

"Albus thank you for coming" said Lily as she placed the coffee cup in front of him.

"Think nothing of it my dear girl" Dumbledore smiled as he took a sip of the tea. "ah wonderful tea my dear Lily thank you"

James respected Dumbledore he was like a second father to him after his parents Charles and Dorea Potter were killed by Voldemort in the last war. He always followed his advice and was loyal to him and the Order of the Phoenix, he was a true light wizard through and through.

Harry and James Jr. were playing with their toys when they heard commotion coming from the kitchen.

"what do you think is going on?" Harry asked as he couldn't shake the feeling that he felt and it was scaring him to no end. His brother wrapped his arms around him as he spoke calmly to him.

"I don't know lets go see but something tells me its not good" James shuddered as he and his brother walked towards the kitchen and they were not going to like what they hear.

"Its terrible Albus" screamed Lily. "that brat Harry is distracting our beloved James from his studies, and his magical training it's starting to get out of hand. James won't go anywhere or do anything without Harry please Albus do something." she begged.

James Jr was shocked and angry that his mother would dare call his adorable little brother a brat._ 'how dare they insult my Harry no one is hurting my brother no one'_ he thought as he growled. His magic was starting to flare but Harry placed a hand on his shoulder to calm him.

"easy brother its okay don't let what they say get to you" Harry spoke with a sincere tone.

He nodded towards Harry and let his magic simmer down to its normal level. He couldn't let his magic go haywire again. The last time that happened was when they were three he saw their father struck Harry, thinking that he stole one of his toys. It was the day he dedicated himself to shield Harry from anything that would hurt him. They soon returned to ear dropping on their parents when they heard Dumbledore speak.

"thats not good news I'm afraid" said Dumbledore looking more his hundred and fifty years old. He knew the boys were close and he respected that since brotherly love was one of the many powerful forms of magic but he had to do something for the greater good. "I believe its time to give Harry away perhaps to a new family where he can have all the love and care he deserves that way James Jr won't be distracted by him."

"thats perfect Albus" said Lily as she gave a smile. _'now that brat won't get in the way of James Jr's destiny, after all I only wanted one kid'_

"excellent idea Albus once Harry is gone I can start training our savior in everything I know" James said proudly. "plus Sirius and Remus can help as well. I mean with Sirius' mastery in Defence Against The Dark Arts and Remus' mastery in Ancient Runes, Lily's mastery in Charms, and my mastery in Transfiguration our little saviour will be powerful by the time he starts Hogwarts."

Albus nodded in acknowledgement as everything was going according to plan. James Jr will destroy voldemort and he will be hailed as the one who helped him do it. And if James Jr fails to do that he could always mold Harry into the weapon needed to defeat the dark lord. "well then I'll let you get to it after all you've had a long day."

The two brothers backed away from the door when they heard that they were going to get rid of Harry. They didn't want to be seperated from eachother no they belong together. When they were four years old they made a vow to always be there for eachother through all the good and all the bad.

"I don't want to go away!" cried Harry. "I don't want to be seperated from you".

James Jr hugged his brother close as he ran his hand through Harry's black hair, "shhhh its okay Harry no one is going to steal you away from me I promise."

Harry looked up as his tear stained eyes met his brother's bright emerald eyes. "you...you promise?" he asked in a hopeful yet scared voice.

"count on it after all brothers forever" he smiled as he kissed his brother's forehead. "come on lets go upstairs I know someone who can help us."

Harry followed his brother upstairs as they came to their bedroom which was messy with all the toys and books that scattered the place. They didn't clean it up all that often as they were sometimes lazy but it was all in good fun as they had house elves to clean it up for them. Out of all the house elves in their home they came to like one elf who went by the name Sparkle. She was a tough elf but she was a kindred spirit and she took a liking to the boys. Whenever James or Lily neglect Harry's needs she was always there to take care of him and James Jr loved her for it. She was also the one that was going to help the two boys escape from Potter Manor.

"So you said you knew someone who could help us James right?" Harry asked. "what exactly will this person help us do?" He was confused at what his little brother planning.

"We are going to run away" James Jr responded with a firm tone. "I'm not going to let those monsters take you away from me. I don't care that I'm the savior of the wizarding world, in fact I hate being the savior I don't even know how I..a three month old baby could beat a wizard way older than me with many years of magical training." he growled as he sat down.

"but where will we go?" asked Harry. "I mean how can we take care of ourselves we are only five years old"

"don't worry about it bro leave it to me?" he smiled as he screamed, "Sparkle!"

The young elf apparated in the bedroom, "Master Harry and Master James Jr called Sparkle"

"yes Sparkle do you think you can take us to Gringotts" James Jr asked. "We are planning to run away and we are wondering if you would come with us."

Sparkle gasped in shock that her masters were going to run away. She was going to refuse till James Jr told her that Lily and James were going to give Harry away to a new family like he was a piece of trash that they didn't want anymore. It was then and there she nodded her head, "Sparkle will join young masters and will take you to Gringotts, and I recommend that you two take an inheritance test to see if you both are heirs to other families." she said as she packed their trunks with clothes, some food, and some of their favorite toys and books. "alright you two take my hand" she said as both boys touched it and all three of them vanished.

-Gringotts-

As the three of them arrived at Gringotts they felt a little sick after the apparating. Harry was completely dizzy and James Jr looked like he was about to throw up.

"where are we?" James Jr said as he coughed a little.

"you are in Gringotts young master James" said Sparkle.

James Jr and his brother Harry have never been to Gringotts before. It was amazing and breathetaking as their house elf brought them towards the desk of the Potter Account Manager. As they walked towards the desk they noticed the goblins were staring at them. The reason the goblins were staring at the boys was because they wondered what two five year old boys were doing in the bank by themselves and with a house elf no less.

The boys reached the desk of Griphook as James Jr nervously coughed as it got the goblin's attention. "excuse me Griphook" he said. "My name is James Potter Jr and this is my big brother Harry Potter we are here to take an inheritance test if thats alright?"

"how do you know my name I never met you boys before?" Griphook said shockingly. "also may I ask the reason you want to take an inheritance test in the first place." he said with a slight sneer.

Harry walked next to his brother and stared down at the goblin, "May your gold flow and your enemies fall at your feet." he said in a respective tone which shocked Griphook that the child knew their language. "don't look so shocked honored Griphook I've read up on goblin customs."

"bookworm" James Jr teased.

Harry playfully hit his brother's shoulder and turned back towards Griphook, "my brother and I are running away from our parents Lily and James Potter who want to give me away to someone else so that they can focus on their hero and savior. Please Griphook James Jr is my only family I have please I beg of you" he said as he got on his knees and begged.

In all the years Griphook had been alive he never seen a wizard begging at the feet of a goblin, but the risks that these boys were willing to go through to stay together warmed his cold gold loving greedy heart, "alright Mr Potter come with me" he said as he got down and led him to the Office of Inheritance and Wills. As they followed the goblin he brought them to a large table where a knife and paper were resting upon it.

"alright you two here's how this works you must cut your finger and let three drops of blood drip onto the piece of parchment which will reveal who you are and what you own and are entitled too" Griphook said as he looked at them, "so who wants to go first?" he asked.

"I'll go first" said Harry as he took the knife and cut his finger. As he cut it three drops of blood dripped onto the piece of paper. The blood suddenly started to form words on the parchment but what it said on the paper shocked him completely

Harry was shocked to full extent he never could believe that he was this rich but not only that he found out that he was not Lily and James' real child at all and that his real parents were actually still alive. This opened so many new questions in his mind, did his parents give him up? did they even love him? how did he end up with the Potters, so many questions. He showed the results to his brother as James Jr was shocked completely out of his mind but regardless Harry was still his brother.

"holy Merlin Harry I didn't know you were that rich or by the fact that your really a Gryffindor and Ravenclaw I thought those familes died out ages ago but they are still alive and kicking its oh my Merlin its just wow. Not to mention you have four people to marry Harry you sly dog you." James Jr said in a excited tone.

Harry laughed at how excited his brother was, "well its a shock to me too now lets get you tested I wonder what your information will say."

James Jr was a litle nervous and wondered the same thing but he had to be brave. He couldn't cower like a little baby he had to take this like a man. He stood stall and took the knife as he cut his finger as well. As just like that his information appeared.

Now it was James Jr's time to freak out in shock as he discovered as well that not only was he not really James and Lily's son but he was actually the son of the Dark Lord himself. From what he was told about him by his adopted parents was that the dark lord wanted to kill all muggles and muggleborns, yet according to his parentage his real mother was actually a muggleborn herself. Perhaps there was more to his real parents than meets the eye and he like Harry was determined to find out. He then looked towards Griphook.

"thank you Griphook now that my brother and I know who we really are we would like to know if we could stay at one of the properties that we both own." he said softly.

"Hmmmm well lets see" thought Griphook. "if you want to remain unnoticed by your adopted parents then my guess would be Gryffindor Castle as it has the greatest wards in the world so that would be your best bet"

The two boys thought about it for a while as James now called Ryuga asked his brother what he thought.

"well Harry what do you think we should do?" he asked.

"I think its our best chance bro" Harry said with a smile.

"well if your okay with it then so am I" James Jr said with a trimuphany smile.

They soon started to fill out paper work that Griphook gave them. It was papers that would legalize their new identies as Orion Godric Gryffindor and Ryuga Salazar Riddle. "alright there you are" said Griphook. "now thats that all sorted out it will be a pleasure to work with you Lord Gryffindor and Lord Riddle." he said with a small bow.

"May your gold always flow and enemies bleed by your feet" Orion and Ryuga said in unision.

"and may your enemies quiver and die at your mercy" Griphook responded as he gave them the portkey that will take them to Gryffindor Castle. They thanked the goblin as they and their house elf Sparkle vanished, not to be seen for a few years until they begin their schooling at Hogwarts.

Hope you enjoyed the first chapter let me know what you think I would love to hear some ideas that you would like to be in the next and future chapters of this story.

2. Chapter 2

Hello everyone heres the second chapter hope you all like it.

Orion and his brother Ryuga portkeyed to Gryffindor Castle. The castle was half the size of Hogwarts, but it had a more medievil kind of look but none the less it was as large and majestic as any castle should be. The foundation was rest upon the middle a large island. The word castle was almost an understatement. Gryffindor castle was huge no scratch that it was enormous. The castle had a large lake that inhabited many underwater creatures, such as Sirens, Water Nymphs and Fairies. They saw that the draw bridge was made of golden metal with a griffon symbol in the middle of it, which covered the gap between the nearby forest and the castle entrance who was engraved in gold where two lion statues on each side of the double sided red golden doors with a carving of a griffon prancing on each door. A large forest surrounding the castle and the majestic lake was so large it was homes to werewolves, dragons, unicorns, hippagriffs, along with many other light and dark creatures. Rumor was some of the High Elves lived within Gryffindor Forest as they call it. A tower was nearby where the owls were living which the brothers guessed was the owlery where they could send letters and packages to their friends when they make some at Hogwarts. The sight was a sight to see and from what Griphook told them it was the perfect place to hide.

"Holy Merlin" said Ryuga as he gazed upon the castle. "this place speaks for itself its absolutely awesome, though the medievil look kinda of creeps me out a little." he finished with a small chuckle. "but other than that it takes my breath away." The two boys walked over the draw bridge towards the castle enterance, they could feel the magic coming from it, it was a powerful concealment charm fused with a muggle repelling charm.

"Are you afraid of an old castle little brother?" teased Harry as he saw the redness on Ryugas face.

"N..NO I'm not scared of some old castle I'm Ryuga the brave dragon" he proudly proclaimed.

Suddenly a loud howl echoed through the trees of the forest. It was one of the werewolves that lived nearby as Ryuga suddenly screamed and jumped into his brothers arms as he was shaking. Harry looked down at his shaking brother and gave him a small smile.

"yeah yeah real brave" he smirked.

Coming to his senses Ryuga jumped out of Harry's arms as he dusted himself off, "I wasn't scared" he said with a smile.

One of the house elves from the castle spotted the two boys as it went to alert his master and mistress that two children had somehow appeared mysteriously in front of their master's castle.

Eve, the head elf of Gryffindor Castle spoke to the other elves, "we must alert Master William and Mistress Lara about the arrival of these two children quickly" she demanded as the elves nodded and disappeared. Eve kept her eyes on the boys just in case they were monsters in human skin.

-Gryffindor Castle: Castle Pool-

Lady Lara Gryffindor-Croft and her best friend Lady Annabelle Riddle were resting by the pool as the butler and their friend Winston brought them their favorite drink Pepsi. "Lady Croft and Lady Riddle your drinks" the eldery man said with a small bow as he lowered the tray to them. Lara smiled with a warm smile, "thank you Winston that will be all." Winston nodded as he began to leave.

"Winston wait" Lara said quickly as Winston stopped and looked at her.

"yes Lady Croft" he asked.

"You've been working to hard these past two weeks you deserve some time off" she said hoping that her old friend would accept it. He's been a great help to her since her son was declared dead after she gave birth in St. Mungos hospital. She still remembered him, her darling baby boy who had her fathers dark red hair but her face and beautiful eye color. William thought he would be a awesome swordfighter like her, but she on the other hand thought her Orion would be an adventurer and tomb raider like she was. There wasn't a day that went by that she still wishes that he was alive. Annabelle was the same way, she missed her beloved Ryuga, he looked just like his father Tom but he had her hair and eye color. He was a little angel that was blessed to her by Lady Magic. Both of the boys were oh how they missed their little angels. Like her friend Lara, she believed that her son had perished at birth.

"You are very kind Lara but I live to serve you just as I served your parents for these many years." he said with a soft smile which warmed her heart. But he could see a look in their eyes and he knew that all to well. "you two are thinking about Orion and Ryuga aren't you? you still believe that they are somehow alive."

The two mothers nodded as tears streamed down their soft cheeks. Lara was about to answer Winston's question till Annabelle spoke, "yes Winston we still believe that our boys are alive. Call it a mother's intuition you know" she said in a soft yet sad tone.

The butler nodded as he knew how powerful a mother's intuition was, "yes I know Lady Riddle and maybe you two will see them again. Something tells me you will one day see them."

Suddenly a house elf appeared before them and it looked a little hyper and scared. She was panting like she saw someone so scary. "Lady Croft...Lady Riddle...there...is...a.." she stuttered as Winston knelt down to the young elf.

"its okay Pippy calm down and tell us what happened" said Winston. He rubbed the elf's back as Pippy calmed her down.

"Lady Croft and Lady Riddle there are two children at the enterance of the castle. They just appeared out of no where plus the boys looked a little like Master William and Master Tom" said Pippy. The information brought a look of shock upon Lara's face. Could it be their long lost sons? could it really be them? well there was only one way to find out.

"thank you Pippy, Annabelle and I will go alert my husband" she said as she got off her pool chair and looked towards Winston, "Winston please go greet the two boys and bring them to the foyer if you please." she asked as she headed inside to her husband's study.

Winston nodded his head, "of course Lady Croft and Lady Riddle" as he headed towards the front door. 'strange that two boys arrived at the castle that was hidden under the Fidelius charm with me as the secret keeper' he thought as he came to the front door and opened it and was greeted by the children. One of the boys had short brown hair and blue eyes. While the other one shocked him, he looked like Lord William but had Lara's face and eye color. He cleared his throat as he spoke softly, "may I help you too boys?"

Orion looked to see an elderly man greeting them and based on how he was dressed he knew he must be the butler. "greetings sir my name is Orion Godric Gryffindor-Croft and this is my brother Ryuga Salazar Riddle" he said in a respective tone.

"greetings kind sir" Ryuga said warmly as he bowed his head. "its nice to meet you. my brother and I have come here to hide from our adopted parents James and Lily Potter."

Winston was shocked beyond words that Lara and William's son and godson were standing before him. He quickly came to his senses, "pleasure is all mine young masters Orion and Ryuga please come in."

-Gryffindor Castle: Foyer-

Winston led them to the castle foyer, it was a large room with red leather couches and a couple of large bookcases that held books like _'Magic of the Ancients by Morgana LeFay, 'A Guide to the Dark Arts by Mordred LeFay', 'The History of Magic by Rowena Ravenclaw, 'Advanced Potions by Salazar Slytherin', 'The Ways of the Sword Volumes one through three by Godric Gryffindor', 'Herbs and Medicine by Helga Hufflepuff'_ and so on. The entry hall had a grand fireplace with a pot of floo powder and lots of pictures hung above it. There were portraits of Godric Gryffindor and the other Founders, Morgana LeFay and Merlin, and William and his wife Lara the large photo in the middle of the wall above the center of the fireplace as a pic of Lord Richard Croft and Lady Amelia Croft nee Peverell.

'wow those must be my grandparents on my mothers side' Orion thought as he gazed upon the picture. But soon he and his little brother sat down on the red leather couch which was comfy to the touch.

"excuse me sir we never got your name" Ryuga asked.

"oh yes forgive me, where are my manners my name is Winston I serve the Croft and Gryffindor family." he said softly.

"so your my godfather" said Orion with a shocked look on his face.

The butler nodded, "yes young master Croft I am and let me say your parents will be so happy to see you both after all these years. They were told by a man named Albus Dumbledore that you two died at birth but now that we know that you two are alive I am sure Lord and Lady Gryffindor-Croft and Lady Riddle will have their revenge on that old fool soon enough."

Orion and Ryuga was shocked but angry. Although being angry was not the case no they were furious, _'that bastard old man told our parents that we were dead'_ growled Orion as his magic reacted and soon the fire in the fireplace was blazing in fury.

"whoa! whoa! calm down Orion easy" Ryuga said frantically as he was trying to calm his brother down. "look I am just as furious as you but remember what you told me when I got angry after we heard that Lily and James were going to give you away? you told me that I shouldn't let it get to me and neither should you" he said as the magic in the room suddenly calmed itself.

Orion soon calmed down as he looked at his little brother and laughed, "I must be rubbing off on you I guess I am a great role model" he smiled.

Ryuga shook his head as he laughed, "oh yes you are oh hail Orion Gryffindor the role model of all wizards" he laughed as he teased him a little. Orion smirked as he tickled him, "ha! ha! ha! okay okay I give I give" Winston laughed a little.

'oh yes masters Orion and Ryuga are just like their mothers' Winston thought as he sweatdropped.

-Gryffindor Castle: Master Study-

William was working in his office as he was going over the papers that he recieved from the French Ministry of Magic. It was pureblood laws that were to keep all dark creatures like Vampires and Werewolves enslaved. He hated these kind of laws. He wasn't prejudiced against dark creatures no quite the opposite he believed that they were just like them and they deserved to be treated as equals to witches and wizards.

"damn prejudiced wizards, how dare they think that I will allow them to pass laws to prevent dark creatures from having children, having a job, or live amoung witches and wizards" William snarled as he tore those papers to shreds with his very hands.

William Gryffindor was a Gray Wizard he believed there was no light or dark only shades of gray. He was also a man who places his family over everything else and would dirty his hands to ensure that the creatures would live a healthy life amoung humans. The first time he supported and helped many creatures that the ministries of the world declared dark, he had gained the support of the Vampires, Werewolves, Veelas, Dark Elves, Nekos, and the Nagas. He was so popular amoung the dark creatures he was declared the savior of the dark. Unlike his beautiful wife Lara Gryffindor nee Croft. Ah yes Lara Croft the woman who like him had supported magical creatures, yet she supported creatures of light such has Unicorns, Phoenixes, The High Elves, Mermaids, Fairies, and so on. It was love at first sight when he met the beautiful woman when they attended Merlin's Academy of Magic. When they first met they had different tastes in magical creatures but when Lara was introduced to some werewolves and vampires she discovered that not all dark creatures are evil like the light sided wizards say. Then from that moment on he married Lara and together they had the most beautiful baby, Orion Godric Gryffindor. They named him after their great great great great grandfathers Orion Croft and Godric Gryffindor. When he was born he looked like him but he had his mother's beautiful face and her eyes. But his happy ending was slashed when he was informed by Albus Dumbledore that his son had died five minutes after childbirth. He and his wife now lived their life in sorrow over their babies death.

'oh my darling Orion I wish that you were somehow alive' cried William as he wiped the tears from his face.

Suddenly the door to his study was pushed open as his wife Lara and her friend Annabelle came in panting like they ran a marathon.

"Whoa! Whoa! wheres the fire?" he asked as he stood up from his office chair.

Lara rushed into her husbands arms, "William two boys arrived at our castle and one of the elves told us that one of the boys looked like you and the other looked like Annabelle's husband Tom" she said as she cried.

"thats right" said Annabelle. "they might be our long lost sons." She was hoping it was her son and if it was then Dumbledore will answer for his lie once she rips him completely apart.

William was in shock that the children who arrived at their well hidden castle could be his and Annabelle's missing sons. He comforted his crying wife as he wrapped his arms around her to soothe her.

"its okay my little tomb raider and if what you and Annabelle says is true than we must go greet them and we will all finally be the family that we were meant to be." he said with a proud look on his face.

Lara sniffled as she looked at her husband, "and what of Dumbledore that told us that our children died in childbirth?" she asked with a sad yet angry tone.

"Yeah I want revenge against that filthy goat bastard" Annabelle screamed in fury.

"calm yourself ladies" William said as he looked at the two angered women, "don't worry we will deal with Dumbledore later because right now we have our kids to see." He soon left his study with Annabelle and his wife tailing behind him.

-Gryffindor Castle: Foyer-

Ryuga was reading _'A Guide to the Dark Arts by Mordred LeFay'_ while his brother was talking to Winston about the family history of the Crofts. Orion was shocked to learn so much about his mother's family. From when his Grandmother Lady Amelia Croft nee Peverell vanished through a stone dias and was trapped for 17 years in the realm of Helhiem to the mass murder of his grandfather Lord Richard Croft who was murdered by a demon named Natla, the queen of Atlantis. He also learned about his parents as well, how his mother was a cool headed ass kicking woman who took no shit from no one. Plus a very studious woman who was into magic and ancient history. She was a bit of a bookworm like he was unlike his father who he learned was a master swordsman. The family line of Gryffindor were masters of the sword and such were the greatest swordsmasters and mistresses in the world. They were also the family that were not prejudice against others they were the gray family of the wizarding world.

"Wow" said Orion. "so my mother found and reforged excalibur and then opened the gate to Helhiem and found grandma Amelia in Helhiem but she was a thrall, an immortal undead soldier that serves the goddess Hela, and she had to destroy her so she could rest in peace."

"thats right master Orion" Winston nodded.

"She could still be alive and can still be saved" Orion said with a smile. "I swear to one day go to Helhiem and save her and bring her back to mother." he said staying true to his promise. Suddenly a voice interupted their conversation.

"Winston we can take it from here" Lara smiled as she and her husband arrived in the foyer.

Winston nodded his head as he stood up, "of course Lord and Lady Gryffindor-Croft."

Orion looked up to see his parents, his mother was a tall beautiful woman. Her eyes were a light blue eyes that shimmered like crystal lake water, her long brown hair fell to her waist wrapped in a pony tail, not to mention she had a slim figure that surpassed the beauty of his adopted mother Lily Potter. She wore a black tank top with some camo pattern shorts. She was a vision of beauty that had no competition. Beside her was a tall and muscular man with long red hair that reached his shoulders, he had brown eyes that looked like they could gaze into your very soul. He wore a standard wizard robe with gold and red trimmings with a small lion sewn on the left side of his robe. He almost looked like Godric but truth was he was a very handsome man and based on the sword that was tied to his waist he was also a swordsman as were all Gryffindor family members.

Lara walked over towards Orion and knelt down to him as she took a good look at him. The house elf was right he indeed had her face and her eyes along with the fact that he looked like William when he was that age. There was no doubt now in her mind, she had finally been reunited with her baby boy.

"My baby!" she cried as she hugged Orion. "its really you my little baby Orion oh thank the gods that your here I've missed you so much."

Orion wrapped his arms around his mother as he rubbed her back, "shhhh its okay don't cry mom I'm here now its okay" he said warmly and softly. He tried to soothe his crying mother as he gazed upon his father as the man walked over to him.

William tried hard not to cry at the fact that his son was sitting in front of him. His appearence itself gave it away as the wards would alert him if anyone using polyjuice came into the castle. Unable to keep his sadness in any longer he wrapped his arms around his son and wife.

"My son, thank Godric that you are safe" he said with tears of happiness. "tell us where have you been?" he asked wanting to know where his son had been for the past five years.

Ryuga was happy for his brother when he looked to see a tall slender blonde haired woman with blue eyes looking back at him. She had short blonde hair with black highlights in it, her blues eyes were as dark as the ocean blue. It showed happiness and sadness in them. She wore a slender black strapless dress with a few silver trims and other diamonds sewed into the dress. The woman was none other than his mother Annabelle Riddle nee Daniels. Ryuga placed the book down as he stood up, then after a few minutes he cried and rushed into her arms and tackled her into a hug.

"Mommy" he sobbed as he hugged her tightly.

Annabelle ran her hand through his hair as she comforted her crying son. "Shhhh its okay baby mommy is here now shhhhh its okay."

Winston gazed upon the proud family reunion between the parents and their sons. The Crofts were always good to him after his wife died and after Lara's wedding the Gryffindor family welcomed him with open arms. After all Lord Daniel Gryffindor and Lady Athena Gryffindor nee Ravenclaw were as kind as Lord Richard and Lady Amelia Croft were to him. It made him love his job all the more exciting knowing he could take care of the family that welcomed and treated him as one of their own family.

After the reunion they were all sitting down as Orion answered his parents question about how he and Ryuga was treated by James and Lily Potter.

"well lets see how shall I start" said Orion as he thought for a minute. "oh now I remember well you see when my brother and I were 3 months old Ryuga's father Tom Riddle heard a prophecy that he or I will be his downfall. So he came to our house to kill us, he stunned James and Lily but when he reached our bedroom we could see the sadness in his eyes. We knew then and there that he wasn't a bad person just misguided."

"not only that" said Ryuga. "my father apologized to us before casting the killing curse on Orion." He took a deep breathe before he continued his explanation, "when Lily and James found us Dumbledore declared me the Boy Who Lived and they started to forget about my brother. It was horrible I had to remind those jerks to always include Orion in everything, they neglected his needs after that Halloween, they forgot to change his diaper, feed him, give him clothes the house elves, magic bless their souls took care of him and I was happy that someone besides me loved and cared for him."

Lara was seething in rage that the Potters were neglecting her son that they were supposed to take care of. _'those bastards neglected my sons needs for his more famous brother'_ she growled as she began to think of a lot of ways to torture James and Lily Potter.

'I'm going to kill those bastard Potters I'll make them regret neglecting a child of the Gryffindor family.' William seethed as he wanted to take his sword and run it through their dirty unholy bodies. The Gryffindor and Croft families love children and family and they never neglect, abandon, or hurt their children. Godric made sure that his family and descendants would follow that rule. Orion Croft was the very same way with his family as well.

"By the time we were four Ryuga and I did everything together we were inseperable. We shared everything from books to toys to clothes even. We played Quidditch, read books from the Potter Library together, practiced some beginner magic together and we found out I have an affinity for the light and grey arts of magic and Ryuga had an affinity for the grey and dark arts. We kept it a secret from Lily and James but when we had started to show signs of magic they thought it was Ryuga and when I told them I did some magic too Lily smacked me across the face and James kicked me over and over stating that I was a worthless squib and that I should just die."

That set Lara, William, Winston, Annabelle, even Ryuga off the deep end in uncontrollable rage that Lily and James not only had the gall to physically assault Orion but also to call him a worthless squib and that he should die. They wanted to then and there go over to Potter Manor and kill them slowly and very painfully which Orion could see from the look in their eyes.

"wait a minute everyone we can get our revenge but lets do it when Ryuga and I are in our first year at Hogwarts that way father can call a meeting with the wizengamot to bring forth charges against the Potters since Ryuga and I have the memories to support the charges of child abuse and neglect." Orion suggested.

The family looked at one another as they nodded to eachother in agreement. Ryuga stood next to his brother and smiled, "I was right with what I said you really are smart you definitely belong in Ravenclaw house in Hogwarts" he said with a small laugh.

"you know it Ryuga but I think I belong in Slytherin after all I am ambitious and cunning as are you" Orion laughed. Ryuga agreed with his brother that he was cunning and ambitious, he wasn't prejudice against the house of Slytherin like his adopted father James. No he believed that there was no good or evil it just depends on the path that people take that make it good or bad.

Lara smiled as she looked at Winston, "Winston send a word to the Daily Prophet and then join us in the study we have a trial for the Potters to prepare for as James and Lily will know what happens when they mess with the families of Gryffindor, Croft, Ravenclaw, Peverell, Slytherin, and Riddle."

"don't forget the Most Ancient and Royal House of LeFay" smirked Orion. "I discovered I'm Morgana LeFay's chosen heir."

"as well as the Most Ancient and Royal House of Emrys" Ryuga said with a dark grin. "Since I'm the chosen heir of Merlin"

Annabelle was shocked but also proud of her son and godson as she looked at Lara and William, "this is perfect with the power of the royal houses of Emrys and LeFay it will make finding those bastard Potters guilty extremely easy and not only that we could get them to be given the dementors kiss."

William nodded in agreement with what Annabelle said. "thats true the royal houses of LeFay and Emrys holds a lot of power within the ministries in the wizarding and muggle worlds. So this will make our revenge all the sweeter" he laughed with a cold laugh. "lets go we have to prepare"

Orion and Ryuga followed their parents as Winston headed towards his office to write to the Daily Prophet to come to the Ministry of Magic in England for the greatest interview given by Lord and Lady Gryffindor-Croft-Peverell-Ravenclaw and Lady Slytherin-Gaunt at the certain date that Lord William Gryffindor had decided on.

-Potter Manor:England-

Lily Potter was on her way to the children's bedroom to get Harry so they could give him to James's half sister Petunia Potter-Rosier. Normally she wouldn't want to give one of her kids away but her son James Jr. defeated the greatest dark lord in a century and that alone made her only want to take care of the famous one and leave the unimportant one to the care of another family.

"Harry...James Jr. come on out your father and I have something to talk to you about" said Lily as she knocked on their door. But there was no answer and that worried her. She took a hold of the knob and found out that the door was locked.

"Alohamora" cried Lily as the door unlocked itself.

As Lady Potter walked into the bedroom she found it completely empty, there was no sign of Harry or James Jr. anywhere. She suddenly started to panic as she let out a large scream which alerted her husband.

"Lily flower whats wrong?" James asked.

"James Jr. is gone James our savior is gone" Lily cried not believing this was really happening.

"what he can't be gone Lily it must be a prank set up by that ungrateful brat Harry" James said with a scowl knowng he will punish Harry when he finds him. But what did he care Harry was going to be his half sister's problem now so he didn't worry one bit about the boy.

"James Jr. little buddy come on out litle guy jokes over" James said with a smile knowing that his son was just pranking him. But that smile soon dropped as his famous son didn't even answer at all. It couldn't be true no his son wouldn't have run away and neither would Harry knowing how scared of him he was if he ever disobeyed him._ 'Damn you Harry when I find you your going to wish you never even existed.'_ he growled.

"My little savior is gone" Lily sobbed. "ITS ALL THAT DAMN BRAT HARRY'S FAULT!" she screamed.

James agreed with his heart broken wife, "don't worry Lily I'll floo call Dumbledore he will find the two boys and we will finally have our savior back and the bastard Harry will finally be out of our lives for good" he said with a determined but dark tone in his voice.

-Hogwarts Headmaster's Office:Scotland-

Dumbledore was in his office thinking over his plans for James Jr. His plan was simple he will use the boy to kill his own father. Thats right Albus knew that James Jr was really Ryuga Riddle Tom's only child and what better way to kill Tom then by using his own son against him. But he had to be careful since the child was born with powerful magic and abilities which he blocked considering that no was to be more poweful than him. Harry was the same way except he was more powerful than his brother, even though he didn't know who Harry truely was since the papers on him said he was an orphan with no family he didnt care but when the tests that were done upon the boy in St Mungos it was discovered that Harry was born with a Grand Sorcerer magical core. That was Merlin level and that didn't sit well with him so he blocked his magic by 85% and blocked his other magical abilities to ensure the boy wasn't a threat to his power or plans.

"everything is going according to plan and once that boy Harry is out of the way I will finally be able to mold James Jr into the perfect weapon." Albus cackled. "and once the horocrux inside of him is destroyed by Tom I will kill him and tell everyone how James Jr. sacrificed himself so that I could finish off Tom, its the perfect plan."

Fawkes, the phoenix who was once a close friend of Albus chirped a sorrowful song at how far into the dark that his friend had fallen. That started when Albus forced him to bond with him against his will. Truth was Fawkes was actually Morgana's phoenix and he was waiting for the day his real master would one day come to free him from the manipulative evil headmaster.

'master or mistress of house LeFay please rescue me' Fawkes silently begged.

Suddenly Albus was interuppted by a floo call from his favorite student James Potter. He got up from his chair and knelt down towards his fireplace.

"greetings James my boy what can I do for you?" he asked with a smile.

"Albus its terrible Harry and James Jr has run away. This isn't going according to plan Albus we need you to help us track down both of the boys." he said frantically.

Dumbledore was seething in anger. Harry had messed up his plans for his brother once again,_ 'damn that boy always interfering in my plans can't that boy understand the greater good.'_ he thought to himself.

"don't worry my boy I will find both of the boys and they will be home safe and sound" he said in a fake happy voice.

James sighed in relief, "thank you Albus it would hurt us if anything happened to the two boys"

"quite right my boy quite right I will be there straight away" said Albus as James' face vanished from the fire.

Fawkes meet the two boys once before and he was rather fond of them. They were like his hatchlings and he was like a fun father to be around. However he always noticed a strange magic coming off of the boy Harry. Could it be that maybe he is Morgana's heir and descendant. He had to make sure he had to. He looked towards Albus and chirped happily.

"ahh Fawkes you need to hunt some mice." Albus said with a smile as the phoenix chirped in response.

Albus then opened the window for Fawkes, "there you go my dear friend happy hunting."

Fawkes flew out in a blaze of fire but not to hunt no but to find Harry Potter, the heir to Morgana LeFay. As soon as he left Dumbledore's magic went like crazy as it half destroyed his office. "DAMN THAT BOY WHEN I GET MY HANDS ON HARRY I'LL MAKE HIM REGRET HE MESSED WITH THE GREAT ALBUS DUMBLEDORE" he screamed as he left through his floo network to Potter Manor.

There you go everyone, wow this is my longest chapter ever typed tell me what you think. Plus feel free to give ideas for the next chapter if you want. All ideas are welcome

3. Chapter 3

Hey everyone heres chapter 3 hope you like it.

-Riddle Manor-

Annabelle was staring at the clock chiming in the foyer. Her friends were seated at a long table with herself being silent. They were dressed in black robes and they bowed their heads to their Lady in respect. Annabelle looked around the table to see Avery, Carrow, Greyback, Dolohov, Lestrange, and the Malfoys, along with many other of her husband's followers. They came straight away after hearing that she had urgent and wonderful news. One of the death eaters caught her eye, it was her old friend Bellatrix. She looked horrible since her time in Azkaban, it really did a large number on not only her body but on her very mind. It was surprising that she hadn't gone insane ever since she was released last week thanks to the Malfoys, who she thanked with great joy. Bellatrix was her oldest and closest friend who stuck by her during her time in Hogwarts. They shared a special bond and always had eachothers backs which was why she was named Ryuga and Orion's godmother.

'Poor dear I can only imagine the suffering Bella had suffered in that prison' Annabelle thought as she knew first hand what Azkaban can do to a person.

It was a long summer since she finally got her son back and she was going to unleash hell upon not only the Potters but also on Dumbledore for stealing her baby that very day. But she could worry about that later. The clock struck 11 pm as they were still waiting for the arrival of Severus Snape, her husband's most loyal follower and friend.

'where is that man?' she growled in annoyance._ 'if Severus doesn't show up I'm going to feed him to Nagini.'_ Severus creeped her out a little when she first met him. He was always a little cold and emotionless some of the time and he rarely ever smiled. I guess that's why Tom liked him so much, she swore that he wouldn't be a good influence on him or on the baby, back when she was pregnant. But her husband's word mostly overpowers hers.

Suddenly she heard footsteps from behind her as she turned around to see Severus at the top of the stairs.

"Severus" hissed Annabelle. "I was beginning to think you've lost your way...come we've saved you a seat"

Severus nodded his head to her as he made his way over to the table. Bellatrix was looking over in his direction. Snape glanced back in her direction as he saw how she looked like a shell of the woman she once was. The once dark, beautiful, and dangerous woman that he once knew now looked like a ragged woman who's given up on life. Snape soon turned away from her and took her seat.

"Now that everyone is here I'm here to inform you all of some new information that was recovered about my son, Ryuga Riddle and godson Orion Gryffindor are alive. The Potters and Dumbledore stole them from Lara and me" Annabelle stated as it caused comotion amoung the death eaters. She silenced them with a raise of her hand as she continued, "not only that but during their childhood those bastard Potters physically abused my godson Orion." That instanly angered most of the death eaters such as Narcissa, Lucius, Rabastion, the Parkinsons, and the Carrow twins. But the one person that it really angered was Bellatrix, Orion was her godson after all.

'Those bastards dare lay a hand against my precious godson' she thought darkly. _'When I get my hands on them I'll crucio James while setting him on fire and then I'll skin alive Lily Potter while crucioing her to insanity'_ she thought as she cackled softly.

"but my lady it could be false information" said Yaxley. "it could be the light trying to lure you into a trap, please Lady Riddle-Slytherin-Gaunt tread carefully"

"CRUCIO" she screamed as the spell hit Yaxley causing him to cringe in unbearable pain. "how dare you think that I am lying about the boys being alive and my godson's abuse!." she growled as she kept the spell on him for a few minutes.

"I'm sorry my lady please mercy" begged Yaxley as she lifted the curse. He cringed a little as he started to sit up straight in his seat. The other death eaters feared their dark lady more than their dark lord. Truth was Annabelle was more ruthless than Tom, the reason was Annabelle once killed one of their fellow death eaters, Marcus Darkblade for killing a muggleborn student. She burned him with Fiendfyre while casting Cruciatus at the same time. Not even their dark lord would do that since he would just use the killing curse.

Annabelle calmed herself as she sat back down in her black stone throne. She cleared her throat and looked towards Severus. Her very eyes pierced Snape's very soul as it made him a little uncomfortable.

"Severus any news on Dumbledore" she asked darkly.

"Yes Lady Annabelle, when Dumbledore discovered that Ryuga and Orion ran away from Potter Manor he tried to use tracking spells, both light and dark. When they couldn't locate either of the boys he decided to alert the ministry to send out Aurors to hunt them down" Snape reported.

Annabelle's blue eyes gazed upon Severus' black ones with great intensity. The other death eaters were to busy thinking of ways to kill Dumbledore than paying attention to Snape. Severus looked calmly back into her face and after a moment her lips curved into a little smile.

"My Dark Lady" said Bellatrix as all eyes were on her.

"yes Bellatrix?" asked Annabelle.

"Let me kill the Potters, after all they physically assaulted and abused my godson Orion I want to make them pay please my lady let me torture them with knives and fire" she cackled loudly as it scared everyone minus Annabelle who loved her wild side.

Annabelle nodded towards her old friend, "be patient my old friend you will have your revenge soon enough don't worry" she promised. "Dumbledore and the Potters will pay with their very lives but we can't just kill them no that would be too merciful"

Suddenly Lucius leaned forward and spoke calmly, "My Lady I have heard within the ministry that Sirius Black has dispatched over 100 Aurors to search for the boys, and once the boys were captured the minister Fudge will have Orion's memory of his brother erased and be sent to James' half sister Petunia Potter-Rosier and her husband Vernon Longbottom so they can focus on Ryuga's training to kill the dark lord when he returns."

As they were talking a loud wailing sound of misery and pain echoed through the room as it came from above them.

"Pettigrew!" Annabelle yelled. "what have I told you about keeping our guest quiet!"

"yes m-my lady" gasped Peter, who had been standing in the shadows of the doorway throughout the meeting.

"Now then as I was saying" said Annabelle as she rose from her throne like chair. "I've been talking to Lord and Lady Gryffindor-Croft about it as well. We are planning on bringing the Potters and Dumbledore on trial. Although no one of the light would dare convict James and Lily, the heroes of the light or Albus, the leader of the light. But my son and godson will make it very possible." she said with a smirk.

Severus looked at Annabelle in confusion "excuse me Annabelle but how can the boys possibly help us with getting the Potters and Albus convicted?" he asked.

"Simple Severus" stated Annabelle. "my son Ryuga is the magical heir of The Most Ancient and Royal House of Emrys and Orion is the magical heir to The Most Ancient and Royal House of LeFay."

The death eaters gasped as they knew how powerful those two royal houses were, they carried a lot of power in the Ministry of Magic and in the entire wizarding world. Basically speaking Orion and Ryuga will rule over the wizarding world when they reach seventeen.

Annabelle sat back down as she flicks her wand at the floating being, "To those of you who don't know...we are joined here tonight by Mrs Jasmine Black, the wife of Sirius Black, who recently taught at Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry. Her specialty was Dark Witch and Wizard Hunting. It is her belief that we hunt down and kill Muggleborns. But you all know thats not true we don't hate Muggleborns no we do our best to protect them and prevent magic hating muggles from abusing or killing them when they show signs of magic for the first time." she stated as many of the death eaters agreed minus a few who hated Muggleborns.

"Many of us know that Muggleborns don't show any harm towards us Purebloods" stated Bellatrix. "Muggleborns actually preserve magic and our bloodlines. We've welcomed their holidays and methods into our world and they've learned about our ways and practices them. So why should we kill them if they mean us no harm."

Severus was shocked beyond words that Bellatrix was defending Muggleborns, he thought she would be one of those pureblood fanatics who want to keep their blood pure. But it seems that he really didn't know her as well as he thought he did.

"Now as I was saying before I was interrupted, Mrs Black believed that Muggleborns should stay away us and other dark creatures. She would if given her way...have them kill us. To her the mixture of Muggle blood and dark creature and Dark wizard or witch blood is an abomination...and something to be encouraged. Not to mention the fact that she was one of the people who helped Dumbledore steal my son and godson" she growled as all eyes were on Jasmine.

Jasmine looked towards Severus, "Severus...Severus please! I didn't have a choice Dumbledore and Sirius made me do it please we're friends." she whispered as she cried. No one said anything at all as Annabelle flicked her wand at Jasmine.

"Forgive me Jasmine but you are guilty by association even if you didn't want to steal Ryuga and Orion." She stood silent for a minute before casting the killing curse "Avada Kedavra" screamed Annabelle as Jasmine's body fell to the table with a bang. Her eyes were still open as a tear ran down her cheek.

"Nagini dear" hissed Annabelle as the snake slithered into her lap. _"dinner my dear"_ she smirked as the snake slithered towards Jasmine and opened its mouth as she ate the woman whole. Ryuga, who was in the corner gasped in horror as he saw Nagini devour Jasmine Black.

"Now then everyone its time for our guest to greet us at the table" she announced as Peter opened the door to the foyer as Ryuga stepped forward. They gasped as they saw how much he looked like the dark lord. He stepped forward towards the table and sat next to his mother.

"Greetings followers of my father" said Ryuga. "I am Ryuga Salazar Ridde-Slytherin-Gaunt-Peverell-Emrys, Lord of the Most Ancient House of Gaunt and The Noble House of Riddle, Heir to The Most Ancient and Most Noble House of Peverell and The Most Ancient and Most Noble House of Slytherin and finally Lord of The Most Ancient and Royal House of Emrys." He then bowed his head to everyone.

The death eaters quickly bowed their head in respect to one of the two most royal people of the wizarding world. Ryuga noticed this and asked them to raise their heads as they didn't have to bow to him. Annabelle quickly took over as she spoke once more.

"My son here will be one of the two keys to our revenge against Dumbledore and the Potters they will pay so severely that they messed with the son of the dark lord." she roared in pride as the others joined in.

'I hope Orion is doing a lot better than I am plus I wonder how Dumbledore is doing trying to find me' Ryuga thought as he chuckled.

-Ministry of Magic: England-

Dumbledore apparated to the Ministry of Magic after his spells to locate the two boys failed gravely. He walked towards the minister's office hoping that he would have better luck than him. As he walked into the office he was greeted by none other than Cornelius Fudge.

"Can I speak to you for a minute Cornelius?" asked Dumbledore. Fudge knew immediatly that the conversation that they were going to have would be nothing but bad news. Sighing he sat down with Albus and placed a silencing spell and locking spell on his office as Albus started to talk.

"James Jr. and Harry have gone missing" said Albus as he sipped the tea that the minister offered him. The rage he was feeling was not showing. He was not going to shown up by that brat Harry. That boy was more trouble than he was worth and Albus knew that. He was beginning to think that Harry somehow knew what he had planned for his brother and that might have been the reason why he ran away, and took his brother with him.

"This is not good news Albus, no..no..not good at all" said Fudge.

'you have no idea Cornelius' Dumbledore thought.

"I will get my best Aurors out looking for those boys immediatly after its as you said James Jr is vital to the survival of the wizarding world and from what you told me of Harry, how the boy was dark to very core and is preventing his brother from killing the dark lord then Harry must be exterminated for the greater good." Fudge stated as he wrote a note and waved his wand for it to go the Auror Department.

"Thank you Cornelius, also James Potter will be joining the search as well he is very worried about his son and I am sure we can persuade Harry to join the light side as well after he is still a child so he can still be saved from the clutching tendrills of the dark." said Dumbledore with a smile. When Fudge left the office Albus took out his his pendant and pressed it as he was portkeyed to 13 Grimmauld Place, the Headquarters of The Order of The Phoenix.

-13 Grimmauld Place: Headquarters of The Order of The Phoenix-

As Albus arrived to headquarters it was full of curious chatter. Wondering why he even called a Order meeting in the middle of the day he went to the head of the table as he called the meeting to order. The members of the order sat at the long table in the dining room as they waited for Dumbledore to speak.

"Everyone I have notified the Ministry of Magic of James Jr and Harry's disappearence. As I am sure you all know that the two boys ran away, they took their trunks, money, clothing, everything nothing that belongs to them remain in Potter Manor." said Albus in a serious tone.

"That brat Harry was always a bad influence on poor James Jr." said Molly Weasley. She was one of the people that believed that Harry was a bad apple. "If it wasn't for his dark ways of manipulation our little savior would still be here training to kill the dark lord."

"I should have killed him the day he was born Albus" screamed James. He hated Harry ever since he discoverd he could talk to snakes on his fourth birthday. What he didn't know was James Jr could also speak to snakes.

Lily was in her seat crying like always over her little boy, "Please bring him home Albus please our little James can't survive on his own and with that brother of his who knows what Harry will teach him." she cried.

Many of the Order Members agreed except for the Weasley Family. Arthur met the two boys and to him they were kind and gentle hearted little boys. His sons, Bill, Charlie, Fred, George and Ron became good friends with Harry and James Jr. There was no way that little Harry was evil not even in the slightess.

"Now hold on a minute" said Arthur Weasley. "I've met Harry before and he's a sweet boy, all of my sons are great friends with the two brothers. Plus from what my boys told me Harry doesn't have a single evil bone in his whole body."

James looked towards his old friend, "Arthur buddy trust me Harry is a parscelmouth he speaks to snakes, that is a sign of a dark wizard." Lily and Molly agreed with him instantly. "besides there are no light wizards or witches that speaks to snakes at all."

"thats not true James" yelled Arthur. "My great great great grandfather William Adam Weasley spoke to snakes and he is one of the greatest light wizards in the world." Which was true William Weasley was one of the first light wizards during his time to talk to snakes and he used parscel magic for good purposes.

Lily gasped as she looked at Arthur, "thats crazy Arthur there is no way that your family would be actually descended from a parscelmouth. Its crazy you are a very light family and there is no way your family would dare breed a parscelmouth."

Bill Weasley, Molly and Arthurs oldest son spoke out, "my father didn't lie! my great great great grandpa, William Adam Weasley was a parsceltongue plus I can speak to snakes as well." He then took out out his wand to conjure a snake.

"Serpensortia" he yelled as a snake popped out of his wand. The snake hissed as it looked around the room seeing so many people. The members of the order backed away in fear till Bill walked towards it.

"Stop my slithery friend" Bill hissed as the snake looked at him.

"A speaker!" the snake replied. _"who are you young wizard?"_

"My name is Bill Adam Weasley named after my great great great grandfather" he said with a soft hiss.

_"Oh! you are master Weasley's descendant its an honor" _the snake responded as it slithered towards Bill who reached out his arm. The snake wrapped around his arm and slithered up to his shoulders.

"What is your name?" asked Bill.

"I don't have a name master Weasley." the snake hissed sadly.

_"then I shall call you Mordred" _hissed Bill.

"I love it young master" the snake hissed happily.

Molly gasped in horror as did James and Lily. They couldn't believe that Arthur's oldest son was in fact a snake speaker and a dark wizard. Suddenly a huge comotion started as Molly started to call Bill a dark wizard and a spy for Voldemort. Many of the other order members agreed as they called the eldest Weasley boy a traitor to the light. Soon Albus silenced them as he fired a red spark from his wand which caught their attention.

"Moving on" said Dumbledore. "James Jr and Harry are too young to leave the country, so they must still be in England. I have the best English Aurors looking all over England for them and trust me they will bring both boys home." The twinkle never left his eye for he knew that they would get the boys back and once they got them back Albus can easily manipulate James Jr and Harry will be sent to his Aunt Petunia Potter-Rosier or be exterminated.

Sirius Black stood up, "Let me help find our savior Albus I am the best tracker after my wife of course." He wanted to hunt down Harry and kill him for he discovered his wife's body on his door step with a note saying 'leave the boys alone'. "Not only that I want to kill that little bitch Harry for the murder of my wife Jasmine Black-Bones" he cried as he sat down while being comforted by Lily.

Remus Lupin was a different case, he was a werewolf and he didn't have much say in anything due to his dark creature status. Remus was made Harry's honorary godfather but after the discovery of Harry's parsceltongue ability on his fourth birthday he was removed as the boy's godfather at his own request. Remus didn't want anything to do with a dark wizard like him. So he asked to be James Jr's godfather which the boy's father proudly bestowed upon him. "I agree with Sirius Albus Harry Potter is a dangerous child and who knows what he's been doing all this time that he was gone."

"Do not fear Remus I truely believe that Harry can still be saved from the dark if we give him up to James' half sister Petunia Potter who is a very light witch so she and her husband will most definitely keep him from falling into the darkness." said Albus as he calmed Remus down.

Albus soon ended the meeting as James and Lily went back home to research spells in the family library on anything that could help them locate both of the boys. They had to get their savior back no matter what.

-Gryffindor Castle: Master Bedroom-

Lara and Orion were getting ready for their trip to Nepal to explore some of the old ruins. Orion wanted to revisit the same temple where his grandmother Lady Amelia Croft nee Peverell disappeared. He wanted to stay true to his promise that he would save his grandma and bring her back home. Lara thought he was crazy at first but she could see some of her father in him. Her father was a man that never gave up when he gave a promise he stuck to it.

"okay Orion you packing only the things we need?" she asked with a little laugh as she knew her son was a bit of a pack rat.

Orion struggled to close his suitcase but when he did he looked at his mom, "yes mom I'm all packed." Then suddenly his suitcase sprung open as the clothes were sent flying over the room. He groaned as Lara laughed her ass off.

"looks like you packed more than we need" laughed Lara as she helped him pack his suitcase again.

-Gryffindor Castle: Dining Hall-

After packing their bags they went downstairs to the kitchen where Winston had prepared breakfast for the family. As the family sat down to eat Lara introduced her son to her partners that were going to help them on their mission to the ruins. One was a tall black man with an awesome haircut, he wore a red short sleeve shirt and blue jeans. The man next to him was a tall man with short brown hair, he wore a standard suit and glasses.

"Orion these are my partners and my best friends, Zip Marcus Zabini and Alister Edward Granger" she said as the two men greeted him.

"Yo little man whats up, I'm Zip Zabini, Lord of the Most Ancient and Noble House of Zabini and older bro of Blaise Zabini. It's great to finally meet Lara's little man" Zip laughed as he high fived Orion.

"Greetings young Croft my name is Alister Granger, I'm a Muggleborn and I went to school with your mother Lara at Merlin's Academy of Magic" he said softly as he shook his hand as well.

Orion smiled at both of them, "nice to meet you Alister and Zip I can see that my mother really has some handsome friends." That caused Lara to blush and Zip and Alister to laugh. William broke the conversation and spoke to his son softly.

"Orion are you sure your up for a mission like this I mean you are only five years old." he said in a very worried tone.

The boy nodded as he didn't want to worry his father, "don't worry father If I'm anything like mother then I will be fine" That alone worried William to the very core.

'thats what scares me the most' he chuckled to himself. _'I know first hand how Lara acts and now my son has become a second Lara Croft.'_

Zip laughed as he and Alister sat down to enjoy some of the breakfast. Winston poured each of them some wine while Orion was given an orange juice. Winston soon joined the family at the table as a conversation started to began.

"So Orion" asked Alister. "what do you hope to find in the ruins of Nepal that your mother Lara had already searched?"

"Simple" he answered. "I am hoping to reconstruct the stone dias and gain access to Helhiem and find my grandma"

Zip was shocked at the answer, "whoa whoa hold up now little man Lady Amelia is already long gone. From what Lara told us she's undead thrall that now serves to protect Helhiem and kill anyone who dares enter."

Orion was about to respond when Winston spoke up, "its true young master Croft and its impossible to reopen the pathway with the sword. After your mother tried that and she was nearly killed by her own undead mother and those many horrible creatures as well." he shuddered just thinking about it.

"Look I know I may be to young to go on an adventure like this but I promised my mother that I would bring grandma Amelia back and as a Croft I never go back on my word." said Orion proudly.

'ha! ha! ha! ha! just like my father' Lara said as she sweatdropped a little. But she couldn't help but feel proud of her boy. He was more like her than he was like William, she could see that. I mean who wouldn't see it, his proud attitude, his stubborness, his determined to face danger no matter what the cost. Yep he was without a doubt like his mother Lara.

They couldn't win the arguement against Orion as they forgot about it and started to eat. The food that the chefs prepared was amazing. Orion never had food this delicious at the Potters since all he was allowed to eat was leftovers from the Potter's meals. Luckily his brother Ryuga saved some of the food for him so he wouldn't go hungry. They continued their meal till Alister spoke up once more.

"Winston did you send word to the Daily Prophet about the interview that Lara and William were going to give them this weekend?" he asked.

"Yes of course I did Mr Granger" Winston replied. "I've sent word to them yesterday and they responded that they are looking forward to the interview"

"well lets just hope they don't think this will sky rocket their career" said Zip. "Trust me my family and I know first hand how unreliable the Daily Prophet can be."

"But even if thats true" Alister replied. "what other paper could be possibly give the interview to? I mean the Daily Prophet is the number one newspaper that witches and wizards read."

William took a sip of his wine as he placed the glass down, "that's true plus if we offer them a deal then everything will go our way and the Potter's name will be smeared in the mud forever."

"Plus I discovered something in my father's study." Lara announced as everyone looked at her.

"what did you find mom?" asked Orion.

"I read in my father's journal that Charles James Potter, James Potter's father owed my father a life debt for saving his hide when he was attacked a few rogue werewolves. My father hadn't a chance to call in the life debt and when he died it fell to me." she said with a dark smirk.

Zip knew that smirk, "oh I get what your saying you plan to use that life debt to punish the Potters so what do you have planned?" he asked really wanting to know.

"oh its simple" said Lara. "I am going to use the life debt to take everything they have, money, properties, deeds, and most of all their titles. James digraced his father and his family name and once the Lordship of the Potter line is given to either Orion or Ryuga then the Potter family name will no longer suffer under the garbage named James Potter."

"You have the best ideas sweetheart" smirked William. "which is one of the reasons I married you."

"You got that right William no one messes with a Croft" Lara smirked back with a dark look.

-Gryffindor Castle: Front Gate-

After breakfast was over Winston cleaned up with Alister and Zip helping him while William and his family were outside as a limo drove up to them. The limo driver bowed his head as he took Lara and Orion's luggage and placed it in the trunk of the limo.

"Be careful you two" William said as he kissed his wife and son.

"We will dear" said Lara as she got into the limo.

"yeah don't worry dad I'll keep mom out of trouble." Orion smiled as he hugged him.

William chuckled as he hugged his boy as Orion got into the limo and it drove to the airport. After the limo left, he went to the castle and towards the fireplace. He then looked over at Alister as he called out to him.

"Alister its time for us to go to the Ministry we're late." yelled William.

"oh damn it" yelled Alister as he looked at his watch. You see Alister was in charge of Registrating Magical Creatures and Animaguses. He loved his job a lot as he loved working with many magical creatures be they dark, light, or grey. He had nothing against dark creatures no he was fond of them. In fact a couple of his best friends were werewolves and veelas.

He jumped into the fireplace after William as they flooed to the Ministry of Magic. Winston sighed as he sat down on the couch and looked over at Zip.

"Excuse me Lord Zabini don't you work at the Ministry of Magic?" he asked.

"you kidding?" asked Zip. "I can't stand the Ministry of Magic besides I like muggle jobs since I found that muggles were a little easier to work with than those prejudiced witches and wizards." he said as he got back to the computer lab to keep in touch with Lara and Orion.

"I really have the greatest yet craziest family in the world." Winston said as he let out a small laugh and fell asleep on the couch.

There you go everyone chapter 3 hope you like it enjoy
